WHO'S THERE?

Accordion.

Accordion who?

Accordion to the paper it's going to rain.

This great Knock Knock joke came from Linda Miles of Salisbury, Connecticut.

Are you there when it comes to KNOCK KNOCK jokes? We've decided that since they are such fun we will include some of them in the JOKES ON YOU page along with riddles and jokes.

When we do print these KNOCK KNOCKS, in order to avoid saying "Knock knock" and "Who's there" each time, we'll just do it this way:

Howie.

Howie who?

Howie about some Knock Knocks from you Gold Key Comics Club members!

Meantime, a whole new group of readers has discovered Gold Key Comics — and to you we say "Welcome to the Club!"

DINOSAURIA

IGUANODON

Loping across the European continent of a hundred million years ago, the iguanodon was a harmless plant-eating dinosaur, despite its stern appearance. Standing about eighteen feet high and measuring over thirty feet long, it advanced with hops on its powerful hindlegs, although it could move on all fours. The iguanodon's strong, long tail could serve as a lashing weapon, or a counterbalance as it made a short gallop on its hindlegs. Its name means "iguana tooth" as its teeth resemble those of a giant iguana.

Living mainly on twigs of pine trees, the iguanodon used its long tongue to draw down its food, much as a giraffe does.

The iguanodon's small forelegs had five digits, with the thumb shaped into a sharp spine it could use for defending itself.
